

Traffic Men Draft New Contract With Terminal Company

Traffic officials of all initial lines having contracts with the Memphis Terminal Corporation relative to handling cotton held a meeting Tuesday at the southern railway in the Exchange building, to discuss the details of a new form of contract with the terminal company. No material changes in the present agreements were expected to be made. During the period of government control, the contracts were interrupted, and the resumption of the operation of the railroads made necessary a new agreement.

Among the railroads present were, for the Frisco, George F. Macgregor, of St. Louis, general freight agent; Robert L. Buchanan, division freight agent at Memphis; for the Missouri Pacific, W. A. Hambach, of St. Louis, freight traffic manager; Robert L. Buchanan, secretary to Mr. Hambach; W. H. McWilliams, of Little Rock, general freight agent; Charles Bourne, Jr., of Memphis, assistant general freight agent; for the Southern, C. H. Pearson, of Cincinnati, assistant general freight agent; for the Louisville & Nashville, Charles H. Ryan, of Memphis, division freight agent; for the Nashville, Chattanooga & St. Louis, John C. Ryan, of Memphis, general agent.

CRYSTAL SPRINGS HIT BY SEVERAL FAMINES

CRYSTAL SPRINGS, Miss., Sept. 14. (Sp.)—The coal situation is getting more and more acute here. It looks as though a good many people will suffer this winter unless the situation is relieved, as there has been practically no coal delivered here this season, and dealers are refusing to book orders. The power house is burning slabs and all sorts of fuel, and as a consequence is out of fuel a very great deal of the great discomfort of the citizens.

Old citizens state that the past three days have been the hottest ever known in this section. The people have been sweating, and to add to the unpleasantness of the situation the pumps at the municipal power plant have been out of commission and it has been impossible to get an adequate supply for man or beast for the past several days.

NONPARTISAN CLUBS MEET IN NASHVILLE

Nonpartisan clubs from all over the state of Tennessee will meet in Nashville on Sept. 20, to map out plans for a statewide campaign prior to the November elections. The meeting has been called by the officials of the Tennessee State Federation of Labor.

At a regular meeting of the Nonpartisan club of Memphis, held Monday night, the club went on record as endorsing this movement and directed the secretary, W. J. Rohr, to attend the meeting and the official representative of the club.

The state conference will include all the clubs and the railroad brotherhood, and a large attendance is anticipated. The participation of labor in political campaigns has gone forward rapidly throughout the nation, and according to Mr. Rohr, members of the Memphis club are taking a great deal of interest in the movement.

At the meeting, the club was organized and directed the secretary, W. J. Rohr, to attend the meeting and the official representative of the club.

Practically every local in Memphis is represented at the meeting Monday night, and enthusiasm ran high. Literature is being distributed throughout the city, and the club is being urged to take an interest in politics and exercise their right of franchise for the candidates acceptable to labor.

SAYS ATLANTIC CITY HAD PROSPEROUS YEAR

"Despite all predictions to the contrary Atlantic City has had one of the most prosperous seasons in its history," remarked T. G. Mitchell, who has a large restaurant on the Boardwalk. "The Rotary club convention alone brought in an enormous influx of visitors. Of course we have visitors all the year round but the conventions swell the total to an enormous degree."

"The formal season may be said to end with Labor day. All the Boardwalk concessionaires prepare for that day and then get ready to leave as soon as possible. A few of them go to California, for the winter season, but the bulk run down to St. Petersburg, Tampa, Miami, St. Augustine and Palm Beach, Fla. They alternate between the two states."

"The number of foreigners who own concessions is constantly increasing. They are mostly Armenians, Japanese and Egyptians. As a rule they are not as scrupulous as the Americans. Their program usually is anything to get the money, is a real money-making machine, but apparently nothing can be done about it."

Radiant Health and Strong Nerves Make Successful Movie Stars

Says Beautiful Marjorie Daw

Screen Star Explains How She Used Nuxated Iron to Rebuild Her Wasted Forces When Long Hours and Overwork Had Sapped Her Strength and Energy.

Night after night there are thousands who sit in the many moving picture theatres and admire the energy and power of the men and women who play the leading parts on the screen, yet little do they realize how these movie stars must constantly strive to keep health and strength to the highest degree.

In the words of Dr. James Francis Sullivan, formerly physician of Bellevue Hospital, New York, and the Westchester County Hospital, "These people never achieve such great success were it not for the fact that flowing through their veins is pure, red blood, rich in iron."

Dr. Sullivan continues: "I have been especially interested in the statement of Miss Marjorie Daw, whose screen triumphs have within a very short time, given her widespread popularity. In the roles which Miss Daw has played great courage and daring have been required, and were it not for the possession of unusual strength and endurance I feel sure that she would never have been able to give evidence of the abundant vitality which has helped to make her such a success."

When Beautiful Marjorie Daw became tired and worn from the effects of long hours and hard work for the screen it was Nuxated Iron she turned to rebuild her wasted strength and force and give her renewed energy and power.

win and retain public favor, the men and women engaged in motion picture work, must at all times keep themselves physically fit and able to undertake the most difficult roles that are demanded of them. Radiant health and strong nerves make successful movie stars, and I believe that if more people in any walk of life realized the important part health plays in making them successful or failures, more people would take steps to build themselves up. Few of the people who watch in our picture theatres know of the hard work, the long

DRAMATIC NEWS

Orpheum.

There is nothing startling about the bill at the Orpheum. It is pleasing. There are no acts that stand out with great prominence. However, the bill has variety.

William Seabury has a turn he calls "Privilege." We learn that the musical director has just joined the act. Monday night's performance showed something wrong. John Borjes has a good orchestra and the way in which they handled numbers under this "Privilege" director did not savor of the best. It was his first day, though.

There is a black-haired lassie, the program does not designate her name, who is a real show woman. She does several dance numbers and does them well. Especially good is the Spanish feature. For the rest of the girls in Seabury's act, none knows how to even point her toes.

Sets are elaborate. The eye is colorful. Costumes show some road wear but are flashy. Seabury has some good lines and they are delivered in a most acceptable way. Two of the comedies who dance as a team would have done heaps better if the orchestra had been with them. But they should drop the song on let Miss Director gain a bit of plainness knowledge.

Alfred Latell, the booking agent, says, in the world's greatest animal act, He showed Monday night's audience lots about dogs. This turn is what one well can term a howl from the first. Admitting that it was a punk run and proceeding, it can be written that Latell has a genuine laugh getter. His comedy is great. It is clean. And Latell has Elmer Weeks, who lives up to her name. Miss Works can sing. She is as bonnie a lassie as ever tripped across the boards—the kind that the Sooty Middle met at the Rye.

Ross & Co. Juggle. The company presents a fine finish for the act. Ross does many tricks. The majority are new and won him hands.

There is a corking good-looking walking cane in the turn of Jimmy Smith and Arthur Miller. The boys are hard workers and deserve favorable mention for that. Fly stuff in "12 and a dandy good ballad got them several bows Monday night."

British, donchiknow, in the bit of skit that Oliver Smith & Co. offer. The tall British lad is good. His is a quiet style of comedy that appeals. Better folks would help the act.

Dale and Birch are two old-timers who apparently know the show business from top to bottom. Get some songs, that is the work. Professionally speaking, they got two bows.

Now for Bobby Randall. Bobby has been in the army—that is evident. His act is one of stuff that is old. Who of the five million men who wore khaki don't remember, and remember well, some of the lines Bobby pulls. But Bobby got the hands Monday night. Must have been a lot of rear-rank men in the audience. The chap has personal experience.

Director Borjes chose Handy's "From Beale Street to Broadway" as a closing picture. We would like to hear "Aunt Hagar's Children" with Harry Blix as a comedian. Miss Director, there is enough of that Handy piece Monday night to whet a real blues appetite.

Borjes' epilogue, headline next week.
